LOCHGARRY LOG.

Accounts of Struggles in the Ice.

New York, 27.—The following details from the log of the steamship Lochgarry of the Greely relief expedition are furnished by Ensign W. C. Rimbler, who was in command of the vessel during its cruise to the polar regions. In our first day out from St. Johns a heavy fog set in and we encountered large icebergs. In steering we lost sight of the Thetis and could only resume our position by the sound of her whistle.

May 18.—When we were off Cape Farewell, we met the first great quantity of ice and were obliged to go ahead slowly.

May 22.—We sighted Disco, but had much difficulty in finding a harbor. The islands were covered with ice and snow and land marks were invisible. We left Godhavn on May 24th at 9 a. m. and steamed through the ice along the coast to a point about ten miles below Hare Island. Here we found the ice so thick that we were compelled to lay to. Lieutenant Schley signalled for me to go back to Godhavn and wait for a favorable opportunity with an east wind to proceed to Upper Navik.

We left Godhavn the second time on May 27th, and encountered more ice, through which we pushed our way and found the Thetis lying to at Hare Island, having been unable to blast a passage through. Next morning the whalers, Arctic and Wolf joined us and we started ahead. The sea was heavy and very hammy and we experienced great difficulty in making progress and several times narrowly escaped a collision with the Wolf. We finally succeeded in gaining ahead and the Wolf followed in the opening we made. The Thetis was now out of sight and we set our course for Omenak Fiord. Here we sighted the Thetis ten miles ahead. We overhauled the Thetis May 28th. Capt. Schley hailed us and said: "Go to Upper Navik, calling at Proven. If you meet the Bear, coal her with dispatch." During the fog which came on, we got into a false lead, and while returning to the open water to try another, the Alert and Thetis proceeded together midst a blinding snowstorm, which lasted all night, and the next day we reached Upernavik. On arrival there we found the Bear and coaler her. The vessels remained in the vicinity for nearly a week, when the Thetis and Bear proceeded northward, while we waited for the Alert, which arrived on June 14th. The governor of Upernavik told us there was no hope of getting through Melville bay, as the season was unusually close. We left with the Alert on the 21st of June, and reached Berr Island June 23d. We went ahead, pushing through the ice all the way, and on June 25th reached Horne's Head. Here the Alert got nipped in the ice, and in trying to get her out we lost so much time that the neck had become impenetrable; we lay jammed in the ice off Duck Island till June 29th; we worked all night on the 28th, blasting and sawing ice, and finally got away into open water.

On June 30th we were off Wilcox Head, where we had more hard pushing to get into the open water beyond Devil's Thumb. While busy here we sighted the Thetis and Bear coming towards us and knew at once from signaling that the Greely explorers had been traced and the survivors were found. We returned to the open water and a thick fog set in. It was some time before I could go on deck and learn of the rescue. We then pushed south with all haste possible and arrived at Upernavik July 2nd. Captain Schley there dispatched the Alert and Lochgarry to Godhavn while the Thetis and Bear put into Upernavik the former to shift a broken rudder and the latter to get coal at Godhavn; the latter's machinery was repaired, and we buried there one of the Eskimoes of Lieut. Greely's party. We left Godhavn with the Alert in tow. Off the coast of Newfoundland we encountered a gale and the steel barrier was passed three times. The Alert was finally cast adrift July 15th. We dropped anchor at St. Johns at 9 a. m. on July 17th.

Portsmouth, N. H., 27.—The following plan of the ceremonies upon the return of the Greely relief expedition has been determined upon. Upon the arrival of the vessels in the morning of Saturday, August 2d, a novel reception will take place in the outer harbor in which the ship of war is lying; here will participate, including the training squadron and practice ships from Annapolis, and the North Atlantic squadron. On Monday, August 4th, a reception will be given on shore to the officers and men of the relief expedition, by citizens of Portsmouth and Southwark, New Hampshire. The officers and men of all naval vessels taking part in the parade. In the afternoon or evening a public reception will be held and addresses will be delivered. No special invitations to the ceremony will be sent outside the State, but all who desire to come will be made welcome. Lieutenant Greely having by the advice of his surgeon declined any public reception on account of his physical weakness, will be taken to Newburyport at such time and in such way as he may prefer, or will be retained on board the vessel and landed at Governor's Island, New York, if so directed by Secretary Lincoln, in which case the relief ship will leave Portsmouth August 21 for New York, where they may be expected to arrive on the morning of August 7th.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

The majority of the ills of the human body arise from a derangement of the Liver, affecting both the stomach and bowels. In order to effect a cure, it is necessary to remove the cause. Irregular and sluggish action of the Bowels, Headache, Sickening at the Stomach, Pain in the Back and Loins, etc., indicate that the Liver is at fault, and that nature requires assistance to enable this organ to throw off impurities.

Prickly Ash Bitters are especially compounded for this purpose. They are mild in their action and effective as a cure; are pleasant to the taste and taken easily by both children and adults. Taken according to directions, they are a safe and pleasant cure for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Habitual Constipation, Disordered Kidneys, etc., etc. As a Blood Purifier they are superior to any other medicine; cleansing the system thoroughly, and imparting new life and energy to the invalid. It is a medicine and not an intoxicating beverage.
